Violence Prevention in the Workplace Workshop

This Introductory 2-hour ZOOM workshop will assist clients in reviewing their workplace violence prevention program. Using the information provided in the session will ensure the present policies are up to date with the most relevant WorkSafeBC regulations in their workplace(s).

Workplace violence has increasingly become a concern among employers and workers. In several occupational sectors such as health care and social services, for example there is a tremendous need for protection of workers from violence. This session will provide practical hand-outs and scenarios for participants and can be customized to meet the needs of association. It models WorkSafeBC's Violence Prevention Seminar and uses all WorkSafeBC educational publications and materials.

Upon completion of the training, participants will be able to:

1. Identify relevant legislation and regulatory requirements.
2. Identify risk factors in the prevention of violence in the workplace.
3. Conduct a risk assessment.
4. Review the association's violence prevention program.
5. Review the association's procedures for reporting and investigating incidents.
6. Follow-up on and learn from incidents.
